PARNELL AND HIS FRIENDS.

THEY DRAW THEIR LEADER'S CAR. RIAGE THROTIGH DUBLIN STREETS.

Says Mis Justification Will Come So--Healy Hays No Compromise with Par-nell is Pravible-Mr. O'Brien's Arrival. DUBLIN, Dec. 24.-At midnight last night a wildly enthusiastic crowd of Mr. Parnell's admirers unbarnessed the horses from the brake which was to convey the Irish leader from the railway station to the National Ciut and dragged the vehicle to that building, where a speech to the crowd. During the course of his remarks Mr. Parnell said that he was unjustly blamed for refusing to leave Ireland to the mercy, not of Gladstone, but of the tag-rag and bob-tail English Liberals. It would be infamous and contemptible on his part, he added, if he held back any light he could throw on certain subjects. But, he said. his justification would come very soon.

At a meeting of the McCarthylie Committee head here to-day Mr. Michael Davitt denied that the priests had used intimidating tactics during the campaign or while the voters were being polled in North Kilkenny. He described Mr. Parnell as being the descendant of a "common Cromwellian soldier," who was " now attempting to destroy Ireland."

Mr. Healy said that the League funds in Ireland were overdrawn to the extent of £2,000 as the bulk of the money credited to the League was looked up in Paris. Mr. Healy sinch were overdrawn to the extent of $2,000, as the bulk of the money credited to the Lesgue was looked up in Parls. Mr. Healy added that a compromise arrangement between Mr. Parnell and his opponents was out of the question, and that the latter would fight to bent Mr. Parnell on every platform.

Inited Ireland do-day, referring to the recent election in North Kilkenpy, says:

"Kilkenny has declared for Gladstone against Parnell. The battle was fought with every weapon hatred, andice, ingratitude, and treachery could supply. Behind the mutineers were the priests, easys to regain the power Farnell secured for Ireland ten years ago; they sanctioned methods of warfare hitherto unused, and ocea fighting was supplemented by secret intimidation. But, although this combination secured that Kilkenny is not Ireland. Shey, shall be forced to renew the wage of battle at every spot on Irish soil, from the ceptre to the sea.

The Freman's Journal says that Mr. Parnell starts for Paris to-night in order to meet his trusty licutenant," William O'Brien. Mr. Parnell, according to the Journal, refuses to believe that a friendly conference between Mr. O'Brien and himself will be barren of results until they have definitely failed to establish a machas vive and of the parts. The steamship Obdam, from New York, having Meerra. O'Brien and Gill, Irish Nationalists, on board, was sighted on Prawle Point at 1 o'clock this atteranon. It is expected that he two gentlemen named will be landed at Boulogne-sur-hier at shout 6 vicet to-morrow morning. Several gentlemen, supposed to be Irish members of Parliament, are awaiting the arrival of the Obdam at Boulogne.

How. Dec. 24.—In sannounced on good authority that the victory of Bir John Pore Hennessy over Mr. Vincent Reully at the election last Monday in North Kilkenny was undoubtedly welcomed at the Vatican. It is also understood that the Pope approves of the attitude of reserves of far as Irish Bishops, and incidentally of the attitude of the Irish position while headership.

The Nationa

Paring through a feeling of chivairy. It is likely that some will become detached in order to join Mr. O'Brien when his decision is Rhown."

Mr. McCarthy spurned the idea that O'Brien would join the Parneil party without openly declaring himself. "O'Brien's patriotism," said he, "is too well known to admit a suspicion that he would join the Parneilies, even if he fails to effect a reconciliation." He thought it probable that Parneil would go to Paris to see O'Brien, but said he himself would not see Farneil, as he had nothing to do with him, his sole object in coming here being to see Mr. O'Brien and explain the position of affairs. After he had a talk with O'Brien, he added, he would return to England and await the result of the conference between O'Brien and Parneil. The outcome of that conference, he said, would constitute a final ground of action on the part of the Nationalists. The Nationalist party, he said, would be glad if Mr. O'Brien would accept the editorship of the new delity to be published in Dublin. Mr. McCarthy said he knew nothing of the discovery of League papers in Paris.

T. P. O'Connor went to Richmond, Va., last night, to spend the holidays with friends in that cita. John Dillon is still at the Hoffman House.

THE BIG BAILKOAD STRIKE. AfGreat Struggle Between Capital and Labor in Scotland.

GLASGOW. Dec. 24.-There are no signs of improvement in the railroad strike in Scotland It is estimated that about 7,500 men are now out on strike, and business may be said to be entirely at a standstill. On the North British lines traffic has been suspended, while others are working in an irregular manner. The busi ness people residing in the suburbs are obliged to walk from their residences to the city, there by suffering much inconvenience. In and about Glasgow the price of coal has already advanced seven shillings per ton, with the prospect of a still further advance in price be fere long.

prospect of a still further advance in price befere long.

A cas ismine is imminent, and the police are already taking steps to provide a force of special constables to guard the city in case the spoply of gas should give out and the city be plunged introtal darkness at night.

An important meetis x of the Board of Directors of the Acrus British Bailway Company has been held. After the meeting adjourned it was an enced that the company had determined to prospecte the strikers to the fullest extent of the life. No trouble or expense, it is added, will be spared by the company in its efforts to obtain redress for what is classed as an unwarranted interference with its business. The North British directors have also resolved to completely close their railroad lines rather than yield to the strikers' demands.

The North British Company has closed its resolved to combletely close their railroad lines rather than yield to the strikers' demands.

The North British Company has closed its underground station here, and it will remain closed till the dispute with the strikers is settled. Placards announcing that promotion and advanced pay await the men who are loval to the company, and setting forth an offer to reinstate the strikers in their old positions are posted conspicuously. The strikers, however, maintain a defiant attitude. They hired a number of brass bands to-day and paraded the streets.

The Leith and Edinburgh local line has been closed. Passenger traffic is irregular on main lines, and freights are at a standstill. Only one-fourth of the usual amount of Christmas Eve freight business is being done, and the loss to the railway companies will be enormous. At various mass meetings which the strikors held to-night they resolved to stand firm. They have issued a manifesto demanding a ten-hour day and 50 per cent extra for Sunday work. It is estimated that 9,000 persons are now out. Work at most of the coal bits in Lanarkshire has been stopped in consequence of the strike.

Edinburgh Dec. 24.—A mass meeting of the railroad strikers of this neighborhood was held here to day. The pickets reported that the strike continued to extend in all directions, and it was resolved to continue the struggle until the employees demands were granted. The police are taking precautions to protect the railroad property.

The 'Ashdi's Waning Power.

Catro, Dec. 24.-The latest news from Suakin confirms the previous reports that the position of the Mahdi's successor is becoming more and more precarious. The great district of Darfour has completely cut itself off from the influence of the cut itself off from the influence of the Khalifa Abdullah, and is now an independent Governmeist. Most of the tribal chiefs of Kordofan, and particularly the shelks of El Obed, have emancipated themselves from the Khalifa's influence. The tribes of Sennaar to the south no longer recognize him, and have placed themselves under the protection of the Emir of Gallahat, the former great market for Abyasidalah slaves. The Khalifa has lost control of racre than half of his original terriories. The tribes around Khartonm and down the Nile, and eastward along the route to Rassels and Susain, are nearly all the natives of the Susdan who now recognize his approachly.

MRS. DONNELLY'S BRUIAL MURDER

Killed by Her Drunken Husband Because She Refused to Live With Him, Henry Donnelly stabbed and killed his wife shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning in the apartments of Mrs. Maggie Lawson, the ond floor of the Riverside apartment house Columbia place and Joralemon street Brooklyp. The murder was committed with a short, keen-edged knife, which Donnelly, who is a shoemaker, had used at his trade for several years. He made two thrusts, the first in the abdomen and the second in the heart. Death was almost instantaneous. He and his wife were each 47 years old, and they had been married for twenty-two years. They had only young llongshoreman, about a year ago. The young couple went to housekeeping on their own account, and less than a month ago moved into the Riverside apartment house. Donnelly's dissipated habits had for several years caused trouble between him and his wife, and they separated soon after the marriage of their daughter, and have since been living apart. Mrs. Donnelly has been living alone in a single room at 319 Furman street, a short distance from her daughter's home, and her husband has been staying at various places, the last being in a garret in Partition street. Whatever he earned at odd jobs at cobbling he spent in realcons, and he has frequently been arrested for intoxication. He tried, it is said, to induce his wife to return and live with him, but she resolutely refused to do so, and supported herself by doing chores and washing. On Monday night he called to see his daughter, and took supper with her and her husband. At the request of the latter he remained over night, and after breakfast yesterday morning, and when his son-in-law had gone to work, he told his daughter that he would remain until his wile came around. Mrs. Lawson had told her father on honday night that she expected her mother in the morning to assist her at the washing. Mrs. Donnelly came in about 10 o'dock and evidently was surprised to find her husband with her daughter. They began to talk about their old troubles, and soon Donnelly resumed his proposition that his wife should again take up bousekeeping with him. She told him it was much better for both of them to go along as they had been doing, as also was ceriain that he could not stop drinking, and that quarrelling would be sure to foliow. She said, however, that if he would make up his mind to stop drinking for good she might go back and live with him. The conversation between the couple continued until a few minutes after 11 o'clock, when Mrs. Donnelly went into a bedroom to remove her shawl and hat, leaving her husband smokung his pipe beside the range in the kitchen.

Donnelly with a sudden movement, laid his pipe down and went into the bedroom. The daughter remained behind in the kitchen, but alarmed at the apary voice of her father started toward the bedroom. Just as also approached, she heard her mother sereamed and tried to free herself from the firm grasp her places, the last being in a garret in Partition street. Whatever he earned at odd jobs at proached, she heard her mother say: "No. Harry, I will not," and his reply, "Then I will kill you."

At this instant, her mother screamed and tried to free herself from the firm grasp her husband had on her throat with his left hand. He dragged the struggling woman back into the room. The daughter noticed that he held a knife in his right hand, and sprang forward to grab it. Quick as a flash, however, he plunged the knife into his wife's abdomen, and as she sank to the floor, he struck her sgain with the weapon in the left side, plercing the heart. As he was leaning over the prostrate woman, his daughter grasped his upilited arm, and in the struggle for the knife received a severe cut in the right hand. She did not succeed in getting the knife, but interposed herself between the body of her mother and her father, who then retreated to the kitchen, and opening the stove threw the bloody knife and two razors which he had in his pocket into it. When Mra Lawson saw that her mother was dead, her screams alarmed the crowded tenement.

Policeman George H. Roden intercepted Donnelly on his way out of the house, and took him back up stairs to the little bedroom in which his murdered wife lay. Donnelly looked stolidly at the body. He refused to give any explanation or to say what had become of the knife. He, however, admitted the killing. When he had been looked in a cell. Policeman Roden returned to the house, and picked from the red coals in the stove the knife blade and two razor blades. The knife blade is only 2% inches long, and it tapers from about an inch to a sharp point. Donnelly is small, slim, and wiry. He does not welly more than 130 pounds. His wife was a small, delicate woman, like is highly spoken of by her neighbors.

THE PAN-AMERICAN BAILBOAD.

A New Link in the Great Enterprise About

PANAMA, Dec. 15 .- The Pan-American railroad of the future is gradually becoming less theoretical. Another link in the iron band is being welded by the construction of the Cauca Railroad, for which Mr. James L. Cherry holds a concession, which provides that he shall immediately begin the construction of the first section of 100 miles, from Buenaventura to Coll, which is to be completed within four years. The Government makes over to him the section of fifteen miles already built, togother with all the rolling stock, &c. Should the work be completed within the stipulated the work be completed within the stipulated time of four years, the Government guarantees a bonus of land for each month short of the time. It also guarantees a payment of 5 rerect, interest per annum on an outlay of $88,-000, American gold, per kilometre, extending over a period of eighteen years.

The second section, which will run from Coil to Manizales, will be about 250 miles long. For this the Government guarantees an interest of $100 per cent on an outlay of $38,000 per kilometre. This section will not be begun however, until such time in the future as the necessity for its construction shall have arisen in the judgment of the contracting parties. Once started, however, the section must be completed within six years.

KEPT TRACK OF HIS GAMBLING LOSSES.

A Baltimore Man Brings Suit to Receves

85,000 Sunk in a Paro Bank. BAYTIMORE, Dec. 24.—Suit has been brought by M. C. Burkhard, a salesman of this car. against the managers of Slater's fare bank, to recover $5,000 which he claims to have lost there at different times during the past two years Burkhard kept an accurate account of the money he had sunk, and this he has filed in money he had sunk, and this he has lied in Jourt. The losses run continuously from January, 1888, to January, 1889, and nine months to November inclusive in 1890. His mighest less any month was $400, which was in January, 1889. He charges that the money was won from him at fare and roulette.

In addition to the money lost Burkhard asks $5,000 for damages. The suit is brought against Robert J. Slater, John Bolt, and Kirk Bennett.

BOULANGER AGAIN IN VIEW. Attempt of His Priends to Reseat Him in the French Chamber.

Parts, Dec. 24.-Gen. Boulanger was a subject of discussion in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. His friends determined to press his old claim to a seat in the Chamber of Deputies. Yesterday it was brought to vote and rejected. M. Laguerre, who was formerly an active and ardent supporter of the General, voted against the claim of his old leader. This voted against the claim of his old leader. This action was not unexpected from M. Laguerre's recent utterances, especially his speech at the Balon des Families on Oct. 31, when he discussed Boulangism as an historical fast.

In giving his vote M. Laguerre explained that In giving his vote M. Laguerre explained that las action was not directed against Gen. Boulanger personally. He was influenced simply by motives of public policy. He was utterly amazed that Gen. Boulanger should interpret his present opposition as a personal matter. Neither was it an indication of a continuance of the back stairs policy against the General, and it was a serious mistake for him so to think. Boulangism was dead and the sooner this fact was recognized the better for the country. country.

Punished for Alding Padlewski to Escape. Pauls, Dec. 24.-The trial of Labruyers, the Anarchist French journalist, Mme. Duquero and Gregoire (the latter also a French Anarchist journalist), charged with conspiracy to defeat the end of justice by aiding in the cewho is alleged to be the murderer of Gen. Seliverskoff, was concluded to-day. Labruvere, who admitted having assisted Padlewski to escape, was sentenced to thirteen months

Mme. Duquercy, who confessed to having concealed Padiewski in her house after the murder, received a sentence of two months' imprisonment. Finally Gregoire, who vesterday offered to surrender himself to the French Consul at Padermo, in order that the Consul might send him back to France to testify to the fact that he had abetted in Padiewski's escape, was sentenced by default to imprisonment for eight months.

To Be Made a Cardinal.

Paris, Dec. 24.-The Gaulois to-day announces that at the next meeting of the Consistory the Pope will create Father Monsabre a Cardinal. Father Monsabre belongs to the Do-minioan order. JOHNSTONE GOES IT BLIND

Riding in Broadway in Search of an Un P. Alexander Johnstone, "mind reader," o Chicago, gave a public test of his powers in town yesterday. He is a light-haired, blueeyed, smooth-faced young man, and seems to be rather disinclined to talk. His experiment was conducted from the Hoffman House, In the corridor of the hotel Mr. Johnston was surrounded by a number of reporters whom he had invited to witness his effort to discover while blindfolded a name in a hotel register, and also a concealed needle. The name was to be selected, Mr. Johnstone said. by a committee, and atterward, accompanied members of the committee, he would fin the name in the hotel register and announce i the name in the hotel register and announce it while still blindfolded. There was one man in the group who was a stranger to the reporters. He was introduced to them as Col. W. Forsyth of San Francisco, who, Mr. Johnstone said, had but a minute before been introduced to him by the cierk of the Hoffman Honse. The clerk afterward said that Col. Forsyth had saked for Mr. Johnstone, and that was all he knew of Col. Forsyth.

While Col. Forsyth and two reporters were going to the Gilssy House to select a name in the register and were highing in the Fifth Avenue Hotel a big pin such as is used by women to hold their bonnets in place. Mr. Johnstone put a kid giove over his eyes and asked one of the reporters who remained with him to bind the glove with a bandage. When he had pulled a black hood over his eyes he was ready, and the committee returned to see the test.

Mr. Johnstone mounte i the driver's box of a conriage in front of the hotel, bolding Col. Forsyth's hand, and then he selzed the reins with his disengaged hand and drove up Broadway. A big crowd followed to see the blindfolded man drive. He stopped at the Gilsey House, and, still holding Col. Forsyth's hand, went in and found the register, meanwhile apparently leading the Colonel. He announced, after considerable delay and a flourish of hands and tapping his head and iseling of Col. Forsyth's hand, that the name was L. wwis and he believed the initials were T. L. but he wasn't guits sure, because Col. Forsyth wasn't "strong enough." The name was L. L. Lewis, Then Mr. Johnstone got into the cab, returned to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and found the pin sticking in the curtain of a window on the first landing of the main staircase. He had passed within a foot of the pin on first entering the hotel, but passing on up the stairway be had roamed through the hale said parlors before finally locating it.

it will be the purpose of the new university to operate through a system of branch schools or academies scattered through the country. This plan has generally been misunderstood. These branches will be nothing more than preparatory, with no power of conferring diplomas or degrees. All of these branches will however, he under the supervision of the central institution of learning. Our great object will not be so much to graduate as to object will not be so much to graduate as to dreate and we hope to accomplish the greatest good by bringing the means of bigher education within reach of the poorer classes.

"The plan, as I understand it," said Dr. Goodspeed. "Is not patterned after any other now in existence, but is original with Dr. Harper. But that portion of Dr. Harper's plan which impresses the trustees most favorably is that which dispenses with a regular curriculum, and gives the brighter students the privilege of completing their college course and receiving their full complement of degrees and honors in less time than the medicore can accomplish this. Students will have the full benefit of their own energy in this direction and may complete the work in a short or long time, as their circumstances or ambition may direct. The plan of organization will doubtless be adopted at the next meeting of the Board."

The Ridgefield Hermit No Longer Missing. RIDGEFIELD, Conn., Dec. 24.-George Washington Gilbert, the missing Ridgefield hermit came into the editorial rooms of the Press, the village paper, yesterday, in a tearing rage. The Justice had issued a war-rant for the negro, and having no constable at hand served it himself. Pos surrendered, but when Williams attempted to handcuff him he atruck the Justice on the head with an axe, crushing in his skull. The murderer fied and has not been captured.

LYMPH STILL ON TRIAL EFFECTIVE APPARENTLY, BUT ULTI.

MATE RESULTS YET UNCERTAIN. Careful Methods Followed in the Practice of Inoculation in Berlin-The Supply of Lymph in this City Not Sufficient, More than 100 patients are now undergoing treatment with Dr. Koch's lymph, and at every hospital letters are received daily from physicians in the country begging for lymph. None is to be had, however, and the lymph in town is in the hands of a few doctors.

At Bellevue Hospital a case of galloning consumption, the first of the kind to be treated here, was received restorday, and a dose of half a milligramme was injected. One patient was treated with a dose of twelve milligrammes. Dr. George F. Shrady inoculated seven patients in St. Francis's Hospital yester-day. They are the first to be treated with the lymph in this hospital. The dese was one milligramma At the New York Hospital, a man with lupus of the back was treated yesterday. Superintendent Ludlam said it was not that inoculations could be continued, because the hospital has no more lymph. A patient with cancer was inoculated at Mt. Sinal on Monday, and a decided febrile reaction took place. One patient received a 12-milligramme dose vesterday, the largest dose yet given. Dr. Edmund C. Wendt inoculated several patients at the New York Infant Asylum and the St. Joseph's Asplum.

Dr. George F. Shrady, editor of the Medical Record, will say editorially in to-morrow's publication concerning lupus and the lymph: "Now that a considerable number of lupus cases are under treatment in the various institutions of this city, it has been noted that the results of the lymph inoculations are quite marked, and apparently much benefit has resulted to those experimented upon. "The question of the nature of lupus is of growing interest and importance. In a paper read at a meeting of the American Dermatological Association some years ago. Dr. Hyde of Chicago took decided grounds against the idea that lupus is a disease chiefly associated with tuberculosis, but that it is a local infection, having no connection with any constitutional diathesia. On the other hand, at the International Congress held at Copenhagen, Prof. Doutrelepont maintained that lupus is really a tuberculosis of the skin, hiany of those at the present day who believe that lupus and tuberculosis are not identical diseases still admit that there must exist an intimate relationship. Reported cures of lupus have already been made, but keeping in mind the well-known tendency of the disease to recur, we should not be more hasty in pronounding a given case cured under Kochine, as the lymph is now facetiously called, than after treatment by the older methods. Time, and time alone, will prove the cure, and this is quite as true of lupus as of phthisis."

In the Medical Mecord will also be printed a description of inoculation as it is practised in Berlin. The correspondent writes: "From reports which have reached here from America it would appear that the methods used there are somewhat different from those employed here. It will surprise some, perhaps, to learn that the Koch syringe is not universally used even here, and that some prefer the ordinary hypodermic syringe, which has, of course, been made asceptic. One reason for this is that the measuring of the quantities is easier of regulation and more accurate.

"From the original Koch's lymph a small quantity one cubic centimetre is diluted ten times with a half per cent, solution of carbolic acid. This is marked accordingly as a 10 per cent, solution is made. This is done by diluting the stock solution again ten limes, i.e., one cubic centimetre is diluted to here cent, solution from which the ultimate proparation for the injection is made. This is done by diluting the sto "The question of the nature of lupus is of growing interest and importance. In a paper

Henry P. Journeay, the senior member of the dry goods firm of Journeay & Burnham in Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, died yesterday morning of valvular disease of the heart at 182 State street, in his 66th year. He was an intimate friend of A. T. Stewart, and it was noticed that he bore a striking personal resemblance to him. He was of Huguenot descent. He came to New York when a boy and became a dry goods clerk. In 1845 he formed a partnership with Lyman S. Burnham and opened a little dry goods store in Atlantic avenue, between Clinton and Henry streets, which has been enlarged from time to time, and is now one of the large stores in Brooklyn. The firm name has remained unchanged, although Hugh Boyd, brother-inlaw of Mr. Journeay, was taken into the partnership about fifteen years ago. Mr. Journess was seldom seen outside the walls of his store. He remained a bachelor until ten years ago when to the surprise of all his friends and acwhen to the surprise of all his friends and acquaintances he married the pretty young forewoman in his cloak department. For several years preceding this event he had never apolica a word, even on business matters, to his partner, Mr. Burnham, their relations having it some way become strained. All their communications were in writing. After his marriage, however, their old pleasant relations were restored. Mr. Journeay never took the slightest interest in social or political life, and long after he became a millionaire and until a few months of his marriage he continued to sleep in a little room in the store. He took only one extonded vacation during his entire life. He was a member of the new Bwedenborgian Church in Montoo place. His widow and two children, as son, aged 8 years, and a daughter, aged 8, survive him. Mr. Journeay's estate is estimated at from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000.

E. H. Brodhead, the Milwaukes millionairs who died about a week ago at the age of $2 years, was a native of Plattekill. Ulster county, N. Y. Farly in life he worked on his father's farm. In 1830 he began the study of civil engineering under professors at the West Point Military Academy, and then gave especial attention to railroad construction, in which he was very successful. He first became acquainted with the engineering department of the lither and Oswego Railroad in 1832. Two years later he became associated with the Hartford and New Haven road, and in 1838 made assurvey of the Housatonic Railroad. The following year he removed to Brooklyn and spent two years in surveying the new jortion of that city. His next work of importance was a survey for the extension of the Black River Canal. In 1843 he was the engineer in charge of the enlarmement of the Eric Canal and of the construction of the Chenange and Black River canals. In 1845 he became chief engineer and superintendent of the Hartford and New Haven road, which place he resigned three years later to do the engineering for the construction of the Hartford and Willimani's road. Democrate Ignored by the Reformers.

ALBANY, Dec. 24.-The action of the Reform Club in studiously ignoring the fact that New York is a Democratic State and the State officers are Democrats is severely criticised by the members of the party even in this stronghold of Cleveland's followers. The only stronghold of Cleveland's followers. The only one to receive an invitation was Gov. Hill, while such officials as Secretary of State Rice and his deputy, Thomas E. Benedict, and Superintendent Maxwell of the Insurance Department, who certainly cannot be claimed as partisan adherents of Gov. Hill or opposed to tariff reform, were ignored. One of the State Department attachés, looking over the list of those to whom prominence was given by the Reform Club, vented his indignation by saying:

mg. Why, there is not a man of them who can carry an Assembly district."

Henry E. Loane, the holder of $6,000 worth of the bonds of the Baltimore and Drum Point Railroad Company, filed a bill in Baltimore on Wednesday for the appointment of a receiver for the corporation, of which Edward Lauterbach and Oliver W. Barnes of New York are the assigness of Contractor Morris C. Mengis, Mengis came here from New York in the road, with Lauterbach and Barnes as his backers. At that time he was apparently without means. Now he wears diamonds and rides in a carriage with a footman in livery. Besides, his wife owns a hotel for which she paid $80,000. He still lives in good style in an pand so, one. He still lyes in good siye in an aristocratic neighborhood, but has made over his contract to Mesers. Lauterbach and Barnes, in return for money advanced toward the construction of the road.

According to the bill filed by Mr. Loane, not only has the road not been completed, but the charter will be forfeited if it is not finished by May 1.1892. Mr. Loane fears that unless something is done, and that appedily, the whole business must go to smash. His bill alleges that the company is without resources to complete its road, that the work of constructing the road wholly ceased two months ago, and that the only course left to preserve the rights of the bondholders and to prevent a forfeiture of the charter is to appoint a receiver, or receiver, with power to issue receivers' certificates with which to raise money to complete the road. The court made an order requiring the defendants to show cause, on or before Jan. 12 next, why a receiver should not be appointed.

A Chicago despatch says Chairman F. C. Donald of the passenger department of the Central Traffic Association has called a meeting of the compilers and rate clerks, to be held on Jan, 1, to make changes for the quarterly issue of joint rate sheets taking effect Feb. 1. The Chairman calls attention to the advance in second-class rates from Missouri River points to western Colorado, Montana, Utah, and Idaho points, and adds: "It is of the utmost importance that every line and association in the country be represented, in order to secure the greatest uniformity possible and harmonize the differences between the various interests in establishing through rates,"

Officials of the Atchison. Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad positively deny the report that their company has any intention of securing, through the Jackson ville Southeastern Company, control of the Indianapolis, Decentur and Westorn, either by lease or purchase. They say the Atchison has no desire to extend its system eastward.

Hostiles Surrounded in the Bad Lands Issuing Rifes to Rauchman. RAPID CITY, S. D., Dec. 23.-Col. Marrian

is following up the stragglers from Rump's camp who have broken through the cordon and are supposed to have joined the Indians in the Bad Lands. The majority of the outlying troops are now concentrating along the Cheyenne River and the order is daily expected to close in on the renegades. The Indians last night set fire to a ranch belonging to a man named McCormick. Troops were immediately sent out, but on arriving at the ranch found nothing but a heap of smouldering ashes. The Indiana had taken everything of value, burned tons of hay, and killed nine beeves. McCormick and his family had left the ranch some few days ago.

Peruvian Revolutionista.

PANAMA. Dec. 15.-Rumors of revolutionary movements in Peru have been rife here for some time past, and it is known ithat on the 2d inst, a meeting was held in Fort Santa Catalina, outside of Lima, and that an effort was alina, outside of Lima, and that an effort was made in behalf of ex-Dictator Pierola. The movement was suppressed, but at a cost of forty lives. As matters stand in Peru it is not unlikely that similar risings will occur at short intervals, the conditions being entirely favorable. The extreme destitution prevailing throughout the republic is largely responsible for the unsettled state of affairs. Pierola was recently in Ecuador.

Three Tramps Lyached.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 24.—Three tramps have been lynched near Hungtington. Oregon, on the Oregon Short Line, by railroad men. Four tramps boarded a freight train mear Glen's Ferry, Idaho. They were put off by the brakeman, but afterward got on the train and overnowered the brakeman, whom they threw under the train, both of his legs being broken. He died soon after from the injuries. The tramps were caught near Huntington and three of them were lynched. The fourth escaped.
